The Review of Scientific Instruments is a monthly journal devoted to scientific instruments, apparatus, and techniques. Its contents include original and review articles on instruments in physics, chemistry, and the life sciences, book reviews, and sections on new instruments and new materials. One volume is published annually. Conference proceedings are published and supplied in addition to the Journal's scheduled monthly issues.

Information for Authors

Submissions: Submit manuscripts (2 copies) to Editor, Review of Scientific Instruments, Argonne National Laboratory, P.O. Box 8293, Argonne, IL 60439-8293. Submission implies that the manuscript has not been published previously and is not currently submitted for publication elsewhere. For detailed information for contributors, visit the above URL.

Publication Charge: The American Institute of Physics does not require page charges for this journal.

Reprints: Authors may order reprints with or without covers only in multiples of 50 (with a minimum of 100 in each category) from AIP, Circulation & Fulfillment/Reprints, 500 Sunnyside Blvd., Woodbury, NY 11797-2999; Fax: 516-349-9704; Telephone: 800-344-6909 (U.S. and Canada), or 516-576-2234.

Physics Auxiliary Publication Service (PAPS/E-PAPS): For a nominal fee, authors may deposit material that is supplemental to their published papers. Materials may be on paper or electronic media; examples of appropriate items include data tables, graphs, images, and computer codes. Retrieval instructions are noted in the related published paper.
